

Pre-Registered Reports Panel at the Media Psychology 2019 Conference

For the 11th conference of the Media Psychology Division of the DGPs in September 2019 in Chemnitz, the Media Psychology Division and the Journal of Media Psychology (JMP; Editor in Chief: Christoph Klimmt) jointly promote media psychologists' engagement in open science and research robustness.

Since 2015, JMP invites authors to submit Pre-Registered Reports: In Phase 1, authors "register" hypotheses and study protocols before data are collected – and, if positively evaluated, receive an „In-principle Accept,“ after which in Phase 2 they proceed with data collection and writing of the final paper (read more about Pre-Registered Reports here).

We now offer authors of Pre-Registered Reports submitted to JMP the opportunity to present their work at the Media Psychology 2019 conference in Chemnitz! All you need to do is submit a Phase 1 Pre-Registered Proposal to the JMP and indicate in the cover letter that you would like to participate in the Pre-Registered Reports Panel at the conference. If your submission is sent out for review at JMP, it is automatically accepted for presentation at the conference! Peer Review at JMP continues as usual. All such submissions made to JMP until May 31, 2019 are considered.

In the Pre-Registered Reports Panel, authors will have the opportunity to present their research designs (or completed studies, depending on how far they already have proceeded) to the media psychology research community.

Further, a jury (independent from JMP's own peer review process) will determine the most promising proposal, which will receive financial support from the Media Psychology Division up to 750 EUR.

What do you get from submitting your proposal at JMP and presenting your ideas in Chemnitz?

- You get the chance to present your proposal and discuss it with other media psychologists and the journal's editors.
- You have the chance to receive financial support for your pre-registered study.
- You foster the idea of open science, making media psychology one of the pioneering disciplines.

Dates:

- May 31, 2019: Submit your Pre-Registered Proposal to the Journal of Media Psychology
- June 15, 2019: Get an invitation by the Conference Organizers to present your proposal in Chemnitz (note: if your Pre-Registered Proposal has been sent out for review, it is automatically accepted for presentation at the conference)
- September, 2019: Present your work at the conference and compete for financial support by the Media Psychology Division
